For the purposes of the services provided by Hoplr a privacy audit was carried out by Privacy Verified. Hoplr declares that it safeguards the privacy of its customers by complying with the points below. Privacy Verified conducts a yearly reinspection in order to check whether Hoplr continues to abide by these points.

Enabling data subjects rights

The necessary measures have been taken to enable data subjects to exercise their rights.

Adhering to the standards of privacy by design and by default

Work is performed in accordance with the standards of privacy by design and by default. When developing new techniques, the standards of privacy by design and by default are followed and the basic settings are privacy proof.

Data processing agreements with third parties are in place

Third parties are only enabled to process personal data on behalf of the organization based on a data processing agreement.

Data subjects are informed properly about how their data is being used

The data subjects (customers and employees) are being informed about how their data is being used, when their data is being collected / as soon as after their data is received.

Clear personal data processing purposes

The purposes for which personal data are processed are clearly stated in advance.

No further use of personal data for longer than necessary

Data retention periods are in place and suitable for the processing of the data. Data retention periods are strictly adhered to.

Certification Foundation oversees the certification and issuance process of Privacy Verified.
